

Community Resource Program Agreement

I agree to the following statements to participate in or receive any support through the Independent Living Centre of Waterloo Region Community Resource Program:

General

The Independent Living Centre of Waterloo Region (ILCWR) Community Resource Program offers one-on-one and peer group support and programming. The support of our Community Resource Coordinators should not replace the advice of healthcare, legal or therapeutic professionals.

Participants in the Community Resource Program, including any activity through our Virtual Activities and Resource Program (VARP), do so of their own free will and can choose to withdraw from any program or activity at any time.

Community Resource Program: One-on-One Support

Community Resource Coordinators may seek out resources, programs and services that best fit the participant's needs. They will work with the participant to build connections to supports that help them live independently.

Community Resource Coordinators may contact external parties to make inquiries or build a connection for support. They will only do so with the full consent of the participant.

ILCWR is not liable or responsible for any support or service received by an external party.

Virtual Activities and Resource Program (VARP)

Peer group activities are intended for socializing, learning and entertainment.

Participants should always consider their personal health and safety before engaging in any activity.

Participants give consent to the Independent Living Centre of Waterloo Region to use photos, images, videos, or audio tracks taken or recorded during any VARP program or activity. Participants may withdraw this consent by contacting a Community Resource Coordinator.

Please let your program coordinator know if you require an accommodation to participate in any program or activity.
