Attention: Cambridge Consumers

The new Community Resource Coordinator has been hired and is ready to help!

My name is Dan Lajoie and I am excited to be the new Community Resource Coordinator for the city of Cambridge. This is a brand-new position that is designed to help you strive for greater independence and opportunities.

ILCWR is committed to help you live independently in your community. There are some great resources out there, but we know it's hard to find where they are and access them. That's why I am here; to connect the dots and help find out what's available. If nothing currently exists that fills your need, maybe we can work together to help build something that will benefit you and others in the same boat.

How can I help? I can help you connect to supports around: grocery shopping, housekeeping and laundry, running errands, getting your hair done, socializing and staying fit and healthy. In addition to helping you find community resources, I am also the point of contact for the Individual Advocacy program for Cambridge residents.

Call me and tell me what you need. It's my job to connect you and try to remove barriers of all types. I am here to help - all you need to do is reach out to me and we can find out what's possible.

You will be hearing from me soon, but don't wait for me to find you. You can email me at dan@ilcwr.org or call the centre and we'll be happy to direct you. If you live outside of Cambridge but in Waterloo Region, call or email our head office (information above) to be connected to our Program Manager.

Sincerely,

Dan Lajoie
Community Resource Coordinator
City of Cambridge
